Shat-R-Shield Launches New Website with Enhanced Features

Salisbury, NC – June 7, 2010 – Featuring a crisp new look, Shat-R-Shield announces the launch of their redesigned website. The new site showcases many enhancements such as improved navigation, rapid page loading, and additional product details.

“Our primary goal in revamping the website was to present concise, organized, and pertinent information in a visually-stimulating way,” said Bill Hahn, Shat-R-Shield’s Marketing & Communications Manager. “Our on-going goal is to make timely improvements so the site remains fresh and informative.”

On-line visitors to the Shat-R-Shield website will be greeted to new features that include digital catalog, training videos, links to social media, and product applications. Categories of interest are highlighted on the home page so on-line visitors can quickly get to their destinations without having to sift through extraneous information.

Shat-R-Shield is the leading manufacturer of shatter-resistant lamps and lighting products. Their specialized lamp coatings are UL-EPH classified, NSF certified, and meet safety regulations in the US, Canada, and Mexico; including FDA, OSHA, ASME, and CFIA. Shat-R-Shield encourages you to visit to their redesigned site at www.shatrshield.com.
